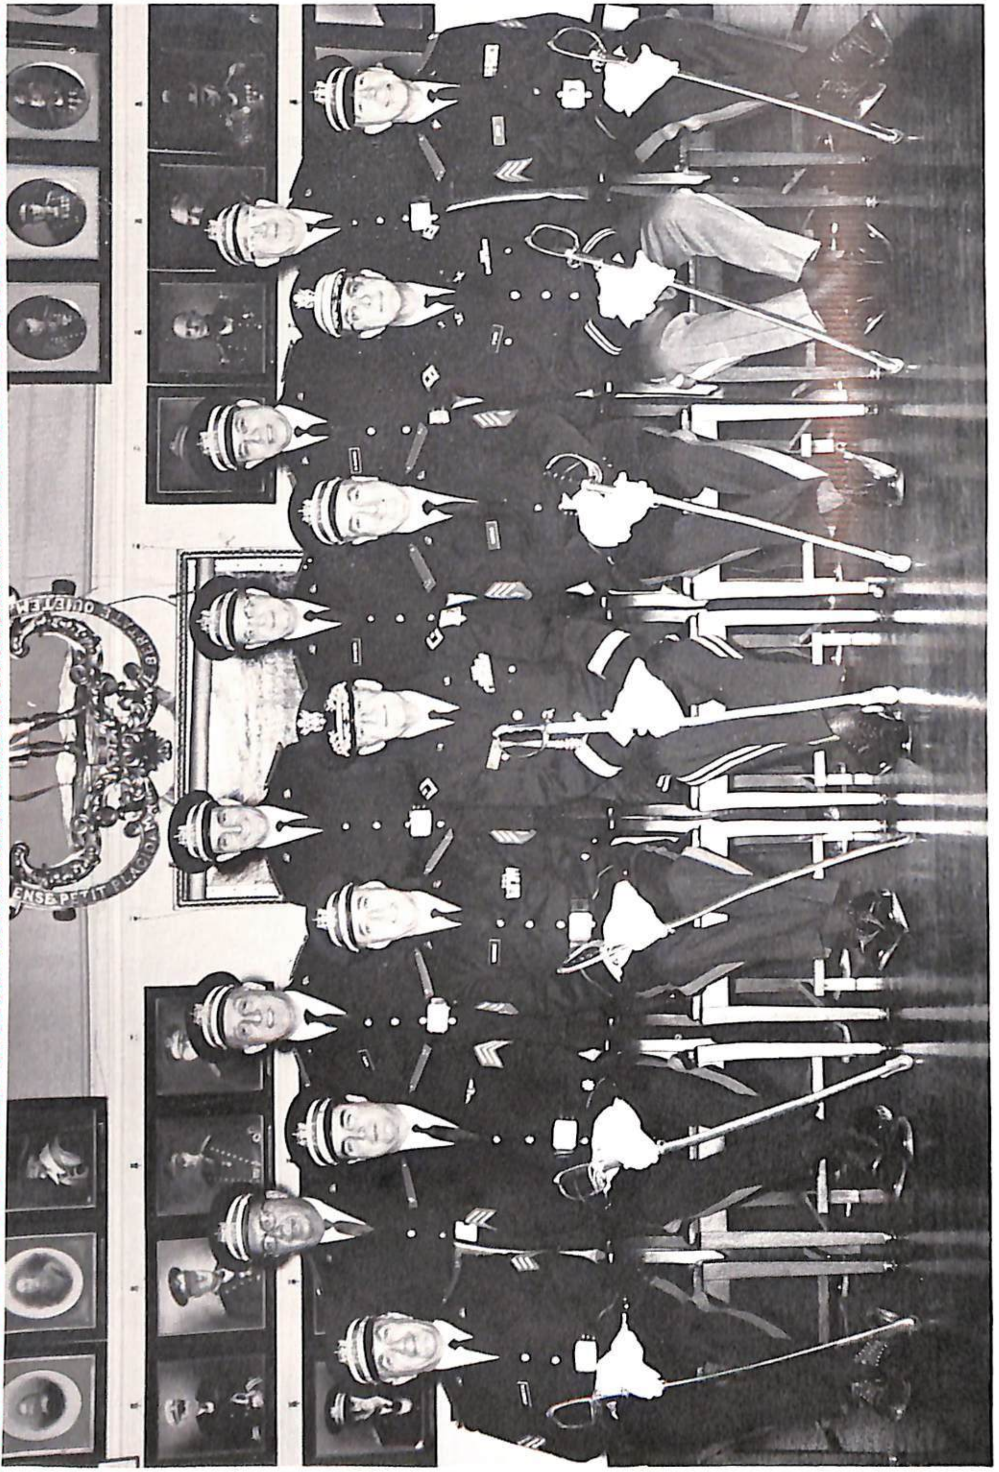
CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR 1966 - 1967 SERGEANTS

COMMANDER IN CHIEF

JOHN A. VOLPE



YOUR SERGEANTS THANK YOU

When we received the espontoon, our badge of office, at the Drumhead Election on Boston Common from MG Vincent P. Coyne June 6, 1966, we accepted it with honor and pride and also as a challenge . . . a challenge to uphold, by our actions, the spirit and the letter of the motto of our grand old company, "FACTA NON VERBA."

We have endeavored to serve you both here and on the Fall Field Tour of Duty in a manner that might earn us the accolade every group of sergeants in the last three hundred and twenty-nine years have tried to attain, the sobriquet "the best group of sergeants, ever."

To perform our duties in the manner we have would not be possible without your wonderful and continuous support and the publication of this yearbook, a memento of our year in office, is also the result of your generosity.

As we look back in retrospect your 1966-1967 Sergeants find this has been a distinctive and rewarding experience and we now truly know the meaning of the old cliche "you haven't been an Ancient until you have been a Sergeant."

When we surrender our espontoons come June Day we will do so regretfully but individually and collectively we shall continue to exert every effort to uphold the traditions of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts.

Again, thank you.

HAS YOUR SIGN GONE TO SLEEP?
STACY'S DEPT. STORE

Your sign should be a business getter. Is it? Or is it dim, out-of-date, a lame duck? If so, it's costing you business instead of attracting it.

To your potential customers, your sign is you. That's why Donnelly takes such care to design a sign that's custom-planned for each customer.

Look around you. The smartest, most memorable signs in New England are Donnelly signs. They're the ones that win business for their companies, year after year after year.

Your good name is Donnelly's business. Let us plan a smart, hard-working sign for you. You owe it to your future. Do it today! Call us for consultation . . . no obligation, of course.

FANEUIL HALL

Faneuil Hall was a gift to the city by Peter Faneuil, a merchant who had prospered in foreign trade and commerce and had built ships for the West India Trade. John Hancock termed him, "the topmost merchant in all the town."

In July, 1740 he made the offer, at his own cost and charge, "to erect a noble and complete structure to be improved for a marker for the sole use, benefit and advantage of the town, provided that the town of Boston would pass a vote for that purpose and lay the same under such proper regulations as shall be thought necessary and constantly supported for the said use."

The Faneuil Hall Market House was begun on September 8, 1740 and completed September 10, 1742.

The building was burned January 13, 1761, rebuilt in 1763 and enlarged in 1805 from 40 to 80 feet in width under the supervision of Charles Bullfinch.

Upon its rostrum have stood most of the statesmen and orators of America.

EARLY EVENTS IN FANEUIL HALL

Protests against the Stamp Act.

First of a series of "tea meetings" November 5, 1773.

Surrender of arms to officers appointed by General Gage.

Used as a theater for entertainment of British officers.

Banquet in 1789 for George Washington as First President.

Wendell Phillips startled his audience with his first anti-slavery speech.

Early in 1812 citizens met in Faneuil Hall and passed resolutions declaring that "Embargo is war in disguise and is soon followed by open war."

A festival was held in the Hall to honor Captain Hull of the Constitution on his return from sinking the British Frigate, Guerriere.

In February, 1815, Faneuil Hall was the scene of a celebration of the end of the War of 1812. Word had reached Boston of the signing of the treaty of peace on December 26, 1814.

Faneuil Hall was the traditional scene of orations commemorating Massacre Day (March 5) and after 1783 of Independence Day (July 4).

Daniel Webster spoke in Faneuil Hall on several occasions. In 1826 he delivered a eulogy on two ex-Presidents, Adams and Jefferson who died on July 4 of that year.

In 1837 Wendell Phillips delivered his first speech which turned the tide of opinion in favor of Dr. Channing's resolutions urging the abolition of slavery.

Anti-slavery meetings were held in Faneuil Hall for a generation.

On March 31, 1847, a temperance meeting with Deacon Grant presiding was broken up.

During the Civil War in 1863 the police department met in Faneuil Hall under the Chief for military drill.

After the fire of 1872, the post-office was moved to the Hall temporarily.

On April 5, 1873, 420 passengers from the wrecked steamer Atlantic were sheltered here while en route to New York.

Louis Kossuth, the Hungarian exhile, was honored in 1852 at a grand legislative banquet and meeting in Faneuil Hall. Price of admission to the meeting was a Hungarian Bond.

The above little known facts were furnished by our building superintendent Mr. Hector C. Campbell.
